

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to recommend Brady Dukart. He worked with us at Bushel for four years as a Software Engineer and reported to me in my position as a Team Lead for the duration of that time.

As an employee, Brady was always hard-working, eager to both help and learn, and an all around great teammate. During his time on my team, he deepened his knowledge of React, TypeScript, PHP, Laravel, and software development practices. He was crucial in helping us launch a variety of new products, often building entire features or functionality by himself.

I've always valued Brady's great attitude and work ethic among my team members. As a software engineer, he implemented designs and functional requirements into well-tested, performant, and production-quality software. Additionally, he routinely participated in, and significantly contributed to: long and short-term team planning sessions, design reviews, peer code reviews, and department knowledge-share sessions.

Brady has a passion for software development, with an insatiable desire to learn and share his discoveries with others. He also has a keen eye for design and is capable of both crafting designs, and providing feedback on designs for consistency, accessibility, and critique. This was an invaluable asset to our team, as he helped foster cohesion between our design and engineering departments.

Brady is a great teammate to work with and I wouldn't hesitate to hire him again. Should you have any further questions about him, feel free to reach me at 701-870-2262.

Sincerely,
Lee Reinhardt
